Invited Preeminent Tutorials:
From Basics to Contemporary Paradigms

Presented during the ABAI 47TH ANNUAL CONVENTION
(May 28-31, 2021; virtual)

All times are Eastern Daylight Time (UTC –4)

Saturday, May 29

9:00 – 9:50   Brian Greer, Rutgers Robert Wood Johnson Medical School
Using Quantitative Theories of Relapse to Improve Functional Communication Training
Chair: Timothy A. Shahan, Utah State University

10:00 – 10:50   Quantitative Theories of Relapse to Improve Functional Communication Training: A Panel with Discussion
Andrew Craig, State University of New York Upstate Medical University
Joel Ringdahl, University of Georgia
Timothy Shahan, Utah State University
Chair: Christopher A. Podlesnik, Auburn University

11:00 – 11:50   Ellie Kazemi, California State University, Northridge
How Advanced Computer Technology can Advance Research and Practice in Behavior Analysis
Chair: David Roth, B. F. Skinner Foundation and Tuscarora Intermediate Unit 11

12:00 – 12:50   Computer Technology and the Future of Behavior Analysis: A Panel with Discussion
Casey Clay, University of Missouri
Darlene Crone-Todd, Salem State University
Aaron Fischer, University of Utah
Chair: Jonathan W. Pinkston, Western New England University

3:00 – 3:50   William Stoops, University of Kentucky
Back to the Lab: Human Behavioral Pharmacology Methods, Outcomes and Meanings
Chair: Derek D. Reed, University of Kansas

SQAB Invited Preeminent Tutorials are recorded and made available on iTunes and YouTube:
https://www.youtube.com/c/SocietyfortheQuantitativeAnalysesofBehavior